It arose from the passage of an act at the last session of the Ohio Legislature, "an act to abolish the Criminal Court in the county of Hamilton, and to transfer the unfinished business of said court to the Court of Common Pleas in the first district." The first section of which act provides " for the transfer of the business of the Criminal Court to the Court of Common Pleas, after January, 1855," (we copy the words of the marginal note.) The fifth see ction provides that the "act is to take effect and be in force from and after the first day of January, in the year 1855,"

Section 78 of the assessment law, chapter first volume revised statutes 1852, makes "the duty of each and every Assessor in this State, in making his return to the Auditor of his county, of the taxables in his township, as provided in this act, to set down in appropropriate columns, the number of do-mestic and farm animals of all kinds, and the quantities in bushels and tons, of farm products of every kind, in his township."
Said section 73 also provides the manner in sors, shall be condensed and reported to the tabular form and laid before the General Assembly in his annual reports.

The Auditor states that in carrying out this provision the Assessors and farmers mistook he issued a circular, and for the last year, we find a much larger amount of information as to the products of the State—though the report is still imperfect. A detailed statement of the products of each county as returned, is to be found in the appendix to the report.

The Auditor suggests that it would be better to employ some trusty person in each county, and pay him liberally, whose whole duty it should be to collect from the citizens of his county, a full and complete statement required by said section 73. Such a state merce of our people. The want of confidence, ment, gotten up every third, fourth or fifth year, would be much more creditable to the year, would be much more creditable to the to organize any system of credit, as represent-state than these meager yearly reports. What ed by paper promises to pay, which will com-is a little expense to the people, when com-mand the confidence of the public. is a little expense to the people, when compared to the advantages to be derived from a true exhibit of the Agricultural resources of the great State of Indiana?

A statement of the operations and condition of the common school fund, comes next in order, which we shall notice in reviewing the report of the Superintendent of Public cient to inspire confidence, in the safety and elation to the Banking department, and copy his remarks at length :

The duties of the Auditor in the Banking Department of his office, have been peculiarly important, laborious and responsible. From about the first of May, last from several relative causes, a heavy run commenced upon the State Stock Banks of Indiana, for coin. The scarcity and demand for Eastern Exchange, which yielded a sufficient profit to the Brokers of our neighboring cities to in- mere confidence banking, with power to issue our banks, and to send them home in large of specie in their vaults, and in many cases sums for redemption in coin, caused such a five dollars to one in coin, can ever again obdrain upon their specie as to give them great tain favor, countenance or confidence among when he would be able to communicate his trouble to keep an adequate supply on hand, a people who can compare the advantages and Annual Message. The committee afterward So inveterate was the demand for coin and disadvantages of real security and nominal exchange, and offered it to those who preciated under the general panic, and has been sented large amounts of their paper, were told in reply, that the notes promised to pay to read and to learn, it was always and the sentence of the Indiana Stock Banks has depreciated under the general panic, and has been carroll and Cl'onton, James F Suit...... reported that it would be delivered to-day at which had provided themselves with Eastern per of the Indiana Stock Banks has depreand almost unheard of run, continued to increase for more than sixty days, before any numerous bands of brokers and bankers, who continued to assort and send home their paper, the heavy sume demanded by them in

A crisis then showed itself in the whole monetary operations of the Western country.
A large number of bankers and brokers in Cincinnati, who had supplied themselves in a great measure, with exchange and coin drawn from the Indiana Banks, under their assorting system, were compelled to suspend tion of holders thereof, I have determined to business, when they could no longer use the collect the accrued interest upon their bonds, istence. Indeed, several of the Ohio banks, in other cities than Cincinnati, felt the same want of a place for the supply of the precious metals, and at Cleveland, Columbus, Circleville, Toledo and Sandusky, banks which had hitherto been in full confidence, were also brought to suspension, and their notes to a very severe and ruinous rate of discount, Chicago and Illinois generally were next the theater of the effects of this combined demand for coin, also, resulting in the failure of of The Cincinnati Gazette of yesterday their notes. Added to the disorganization of financial affairs in the West, at the same time, an unusual stringent state of the money market exhibited itself in New York, and the other great commercial cities in the East. This tight condition of money facilities in the East, being the point at which all heavy transac-tions in State Stocks and bonds are usually made, served materially to depress Indiana Stock secured paper, for capitalists could not be found, who were able and willing to pro-tect the paper to purchase the State bonds which secured it, unless they were sold at unreasonable depreciation and loss,

In such a contraction of the circulating medium of a State, so vigorous, industrious and enterprising as Indiana, much embarrassment and difficulty must ensue, unless some other and better circulation shall fill this suddenly vacuum.

It will be one of the most difficult and important duties of the Legislative department to devise a system which can furnish, on a safe and reliable basis, so large a sum, or a sum sufficient for the trade, business, and comnow so generally diffused, in reference to banks or bankers, will make it exceedingly difficult

If bank notes issued upon the stocks of States which have never failed to pay the in-terest as it became due upon their bonds, with the additional securities of personal responsibilitles, in many cases worth more than the whole issues of the bank, and the whole specie and assets of the bank faithfully applied to the redemption of their notes, are insuffivalue of the paper, then indeed, it would seem to be very questionable whether any We pass now to the report of the Auitor in with public favor. Indeed, those banks which have been most prompt and unceasing in the redemption of every note as it is presented, have met with but little more favor, than have those who conveniently allowed the brokers, banders and other bill holders to take what they can get under the compromises of parties or the strength of the law. If this want of public confidence, this desire to make trade and traffic of exchange and of coin shall continue, and what shall abate it? What hope is there that the old system of duce them to collect and assert the notes of two or three dollars in paper to every dollar spectable confidence banks which failed in Ohio and elsewhere, were so little upheld by public opinion, and the protestations of their ficers, that their notes fell almost valueless in the hands of innocent holders. The securities of no bank have been lessened in any instance, but, where parties, by agreement, have surrendered notes and taken ds. Care has been taken to give the valuable securities first so that no deterioration should ultimately occur.

Where banks have failed, or may fail, to protect or take up their notes to the satisfaction of holders thereof, I have determined to Indiana Banks as the fountains of their ex- and re-invest it in additional securities, to strengthen the fund for the redemption of their notes, by the action of compound inter-

It is quite probable that a number of the existing stock banks, will voluntarially close their operations and finally wind up. Several have already signified their intention to close, and are engaged in redeeming all their issues. Others have made their arrangements to continue business in a legitimate and regular manner provided the action of the Legislature be such as to permit them to operate without embarrassing and impracticable restrictions. It is obvious that the existing banking law, equires careful revision and amendments. The great amount of capital which has been invested in banks in the State, should be permitted to remain, if it be content to remain upon terms compatible with the public intert, and that interest can only be properly protected by requiring the most certain and frompt payment of all the notes of every bank that may be allowed to issue bills.

No security should be taken upon any curred in the Court on the 1st inst. The character briefly reviews its origin as follows:

It arose from the passage of an act at holders. secording to the cupidity and stock jobbing schemes of those who expect to profit by ephemeral prices or fictitious or fancy rates of

The reliable character of the State and its ability to pay the interest upon its bonds, should form the principal estimate of their

There are some alterations and restrictions to be made to the present law which seem to attract general attention. It is conceded that every bank should have a location and a business house, of a permanent character. That it should be subjected to the ordinary rules of banking business. It should be kept open at least five hours in each day—it should have a due portion of responsible stockholders—it should never be permitted to suspend specie islature had a right to abolish the Court, it could not vacate the office of Judge without a two-thirds vote. The first and last sections of the act conflict—one giving jurisdiction for the January term, and the other abolishing the Court, to take effect from January 1st. "The act as it now stands on the statute books clearly contemplates a January term of the court, and as clearly does it say that the act abolishing the court and transferring its jurisdiction shall take effect from and after the last day of January."

Islature had a right to abolish the Court, it abolish the Court, it as unfavorable to the Stock market of New York, and there was a consequent falling off of foreign orders for the purchase of States Stocks. The large amount of those Stocks which by the redemption of bank paper was liable to be thrown upon an aiready depressed market, produced the conviction upon my mind, that if they were, by operation of law, to be forced to sale for what they would or might bring, much loss must ultimately result to the public by an insufficiency of the securities to meet the issues of the banks. If a bank has notes out to the smount of one hundred thousand dollars, who were issued upon an equal sum in State bonds, if those in good interest naving bonds, equal to six per

If, under such a regulation, bill holders r fuse to receive exchange, as before suggested, then the bank upon which they may hold bills, should have such reason that a very useful, safe and necessary system of Banking may exist, capable of re the effects of panics and pressures, and of affording a circulating medium which will have credit, both at home and abroad, and which and up to the 15th of December there has is absolutely necessary to the business wants of our enterprising community.

J. H. McLean, St. Louis, Mo.—Dear Sir I was afflicted for fifteen months with rheumatism, so much that I was unable to attend to any business, my legs, arms, and fingers were swollen dreadfully. the muscles were contracted, and I suffered the most exeruciating pain. I applied some five or six bottles of Mustang Liniment; it had no more effect than so much grease. I obtained one, dozen of bottles of Volcanic Oil Liniment of your agent Mr. Pike, for which I shall ever feel graneful to him, and in five days I was entirely well, and I take pleasure in recommending it to the public. And I also add that one of my horses got east in the stable and was unable to stand up. In the morming I made one of my boys rub on some of your Liniment, and in three hours he could walk at out the yard, apparently that nothing had happened to him Mr. Davies and others of my neighbors were present at the time, and they concur with me in asying, that no planter should be without a supply of this invaluable medicine on hand.
